

The Coriolis Effect

Due to the Coriolis Effect . . .

Winds bend to the right
in the northern hemisphere.

Winds bend to the left in the southern hemisphere.

To understand “right” and “left” directions in this graphic,
imagine you are standing at the base of each arrow on the globes.